Dedication...

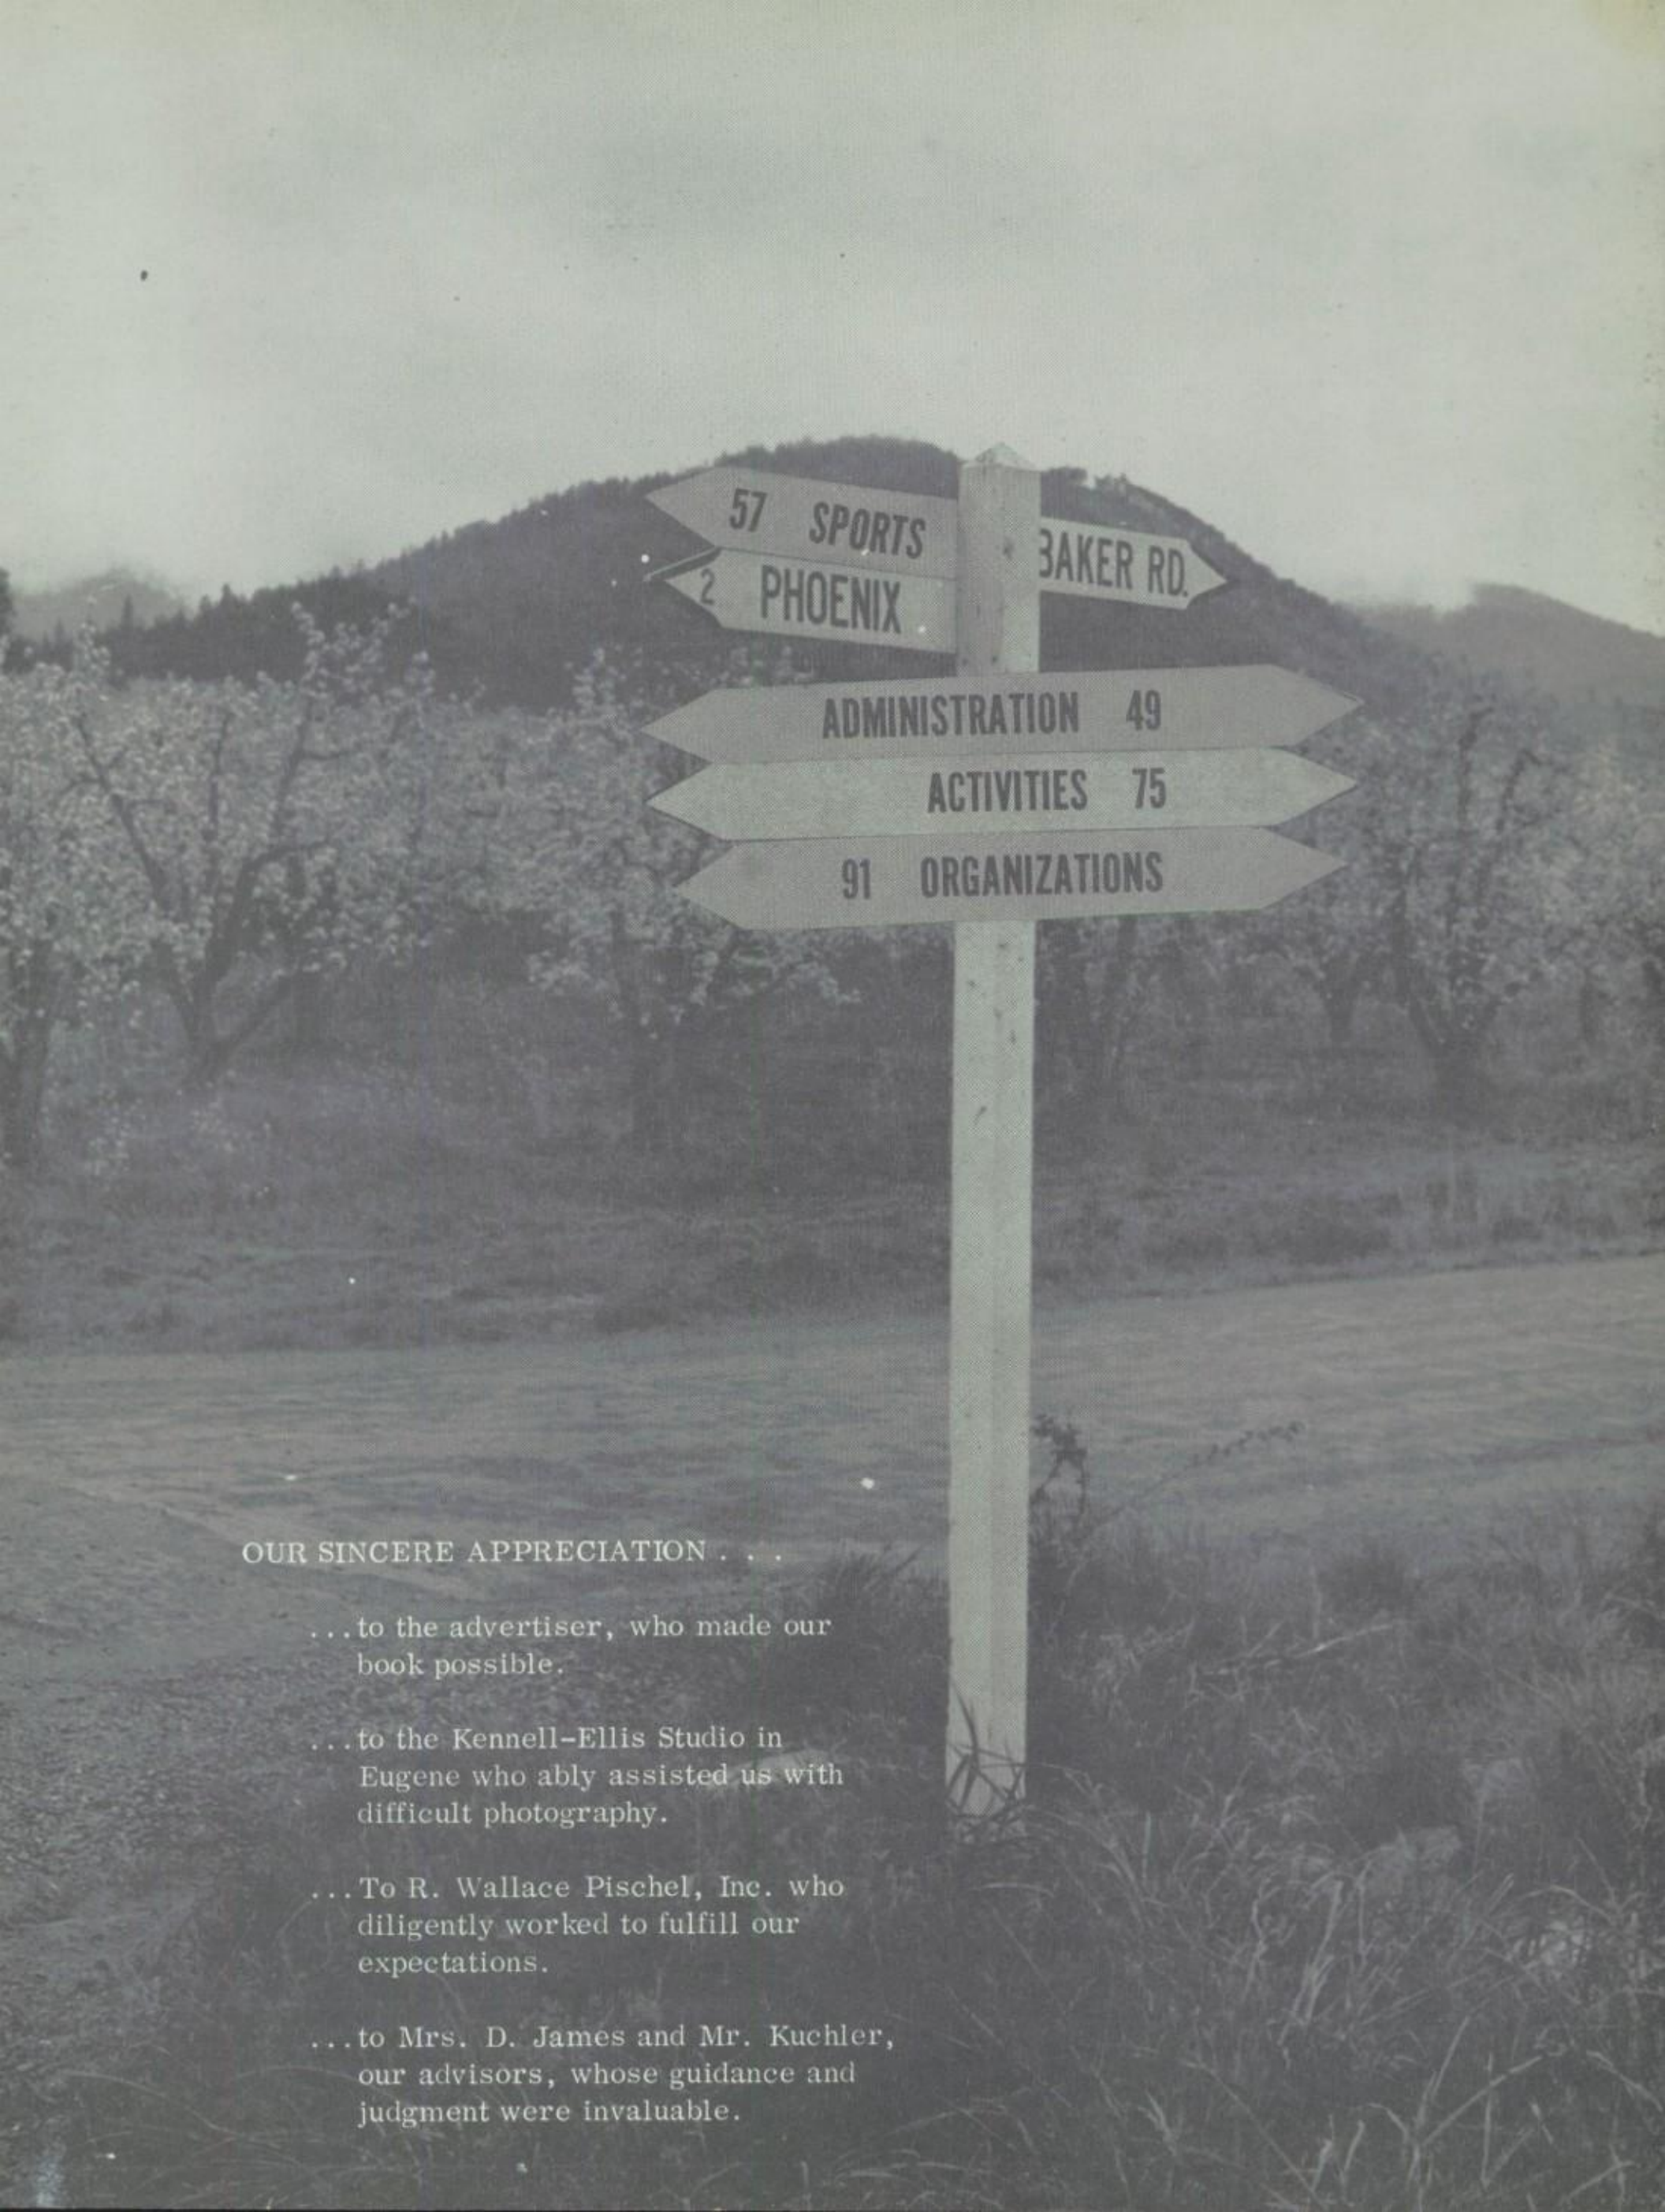
EVERYWHERE TODAY "TEENAGERS" are labeled as problem adolescents, delinquents, and members of the "beat" generation. Little credit is given, however, to the majority who do not deserve these titles. This majority of alert, ambitious, and sincere individuals, the citizens of tomorrow, provide THE WAY for those following in their footsteps. To this resourceful group--the worthwhile teenagers--we dedicate our annual.



OUR SINCERE APPRECIATION . . .

. . . to the advertiser, who made our book possible.

. . . to the Kennell-Ellis Studio in Eugene who ably assisted us with difficult photography.

. . . To R. Wallace Pischel, Inc. who diligently worked to fulfill our expectations.

. . . to Mrs. D. James and Mr. Kuchler, our advisors, whose guidance and judgment were invaluable.

AS THE FIRST graduating class from the newly consolidated Phoenix High School, the class of 1961 holds a place of distinction. As students their education began in separate schools, however, all members participated in similar studies, activities, and experiences.

Throughout this year each senior seemed not only to be thinking seriously of the present, but also preparing himself for the near future after high school. This year of consolidation has taught a valuable lesson to the seniors in human relations between students and within the school itself: a lesson of cooperative spirit it would be wise to carry into the world.

Seniors Achieve State Acclaim

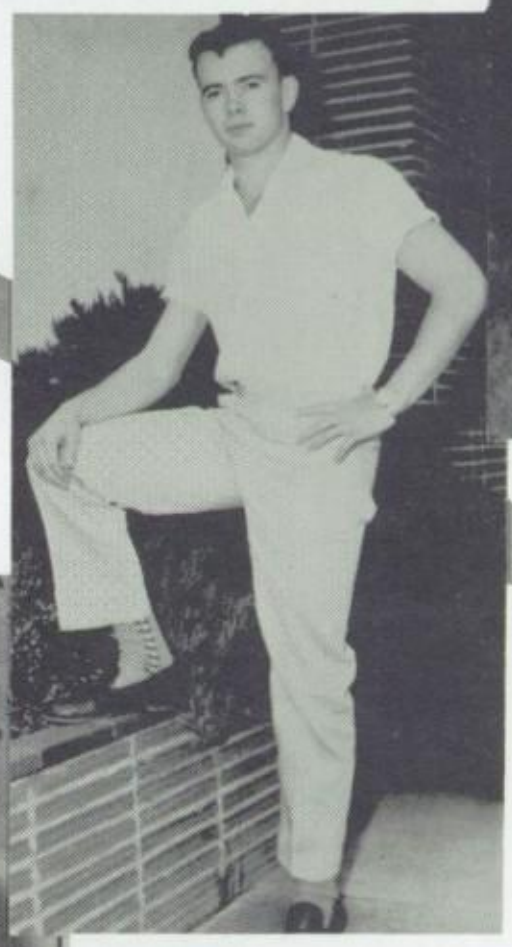
WINNING ACCLAIM FOR his football prowess, GERALD SLOPER was elected to play for the West team in the East-West football game in Pendleton. Co-captain and quarterback for the Pirates, he was one of the key factors in the team's success.



SENIOR GENE HOLT gained recognition in humorous interpretation at the State Speech Tournament where he won first place and a trophy, which he presented to the school.

REBECCA McALASTER RECEIVED second place in the non-fiction section of the U of O creativity contest with her entry "Distorted." This honor entitles her to an alternate position for a valuable scholarship. Becky also was named Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for Phoenix High School as a result of competitive exams.

ACHIEVING STATE HONORS in the Future Farmers of America, ERNEST BOLZ was elected to the office of State Treasurer. During the coming year he will tour the state in connection with his official duties. As this year's Phoenix chapter FFA prexy, Ernie traveled to Kansas City for the FFA National Convention.

Student Council Acts As Diligent

DEPICTING EXECUTIVE AUTHORITY, Student Body President Othar Richey confers on student matters over the telephone.

Spokesman for Students

STUDENT BODY OFFICERS Fran Kievet, Joyce Stockstill, Terry Hanson, and Othar Richey, the nucleus of the Student Council, pleasantly peered from President Othar's car.

STUDENT COUNCIL MEMBERS Bobbie Osborn, Fran Kievet, Rick Seymour, Shearon Poole, Terry Hanson, Bobbie Gysin and Othar Richey were shown at the conclusion of a weekly meeting.

Social Sciences Acquaint Students

INTENTLY LISTENING TO the guest speaker on Social Security, American Problems seniors gain expert opinions about the economics of our nation.

THROUGH THE STUDY of history, students can acquire a knowledge of national and world developments. Such courses are concerned with the social, economic, and political problems in the U. S. and overseas, past and present, that have a major influence on our lives in this period of world unrest.

with Past, Present World

U. S. HISTORY students study the growth pattern of our nation and can compare the past with present situations.

IN WORLD GEOGRAPHY students become better acquainted with the world we live in as a basis for further study of history and of present problems.

Languages Gain

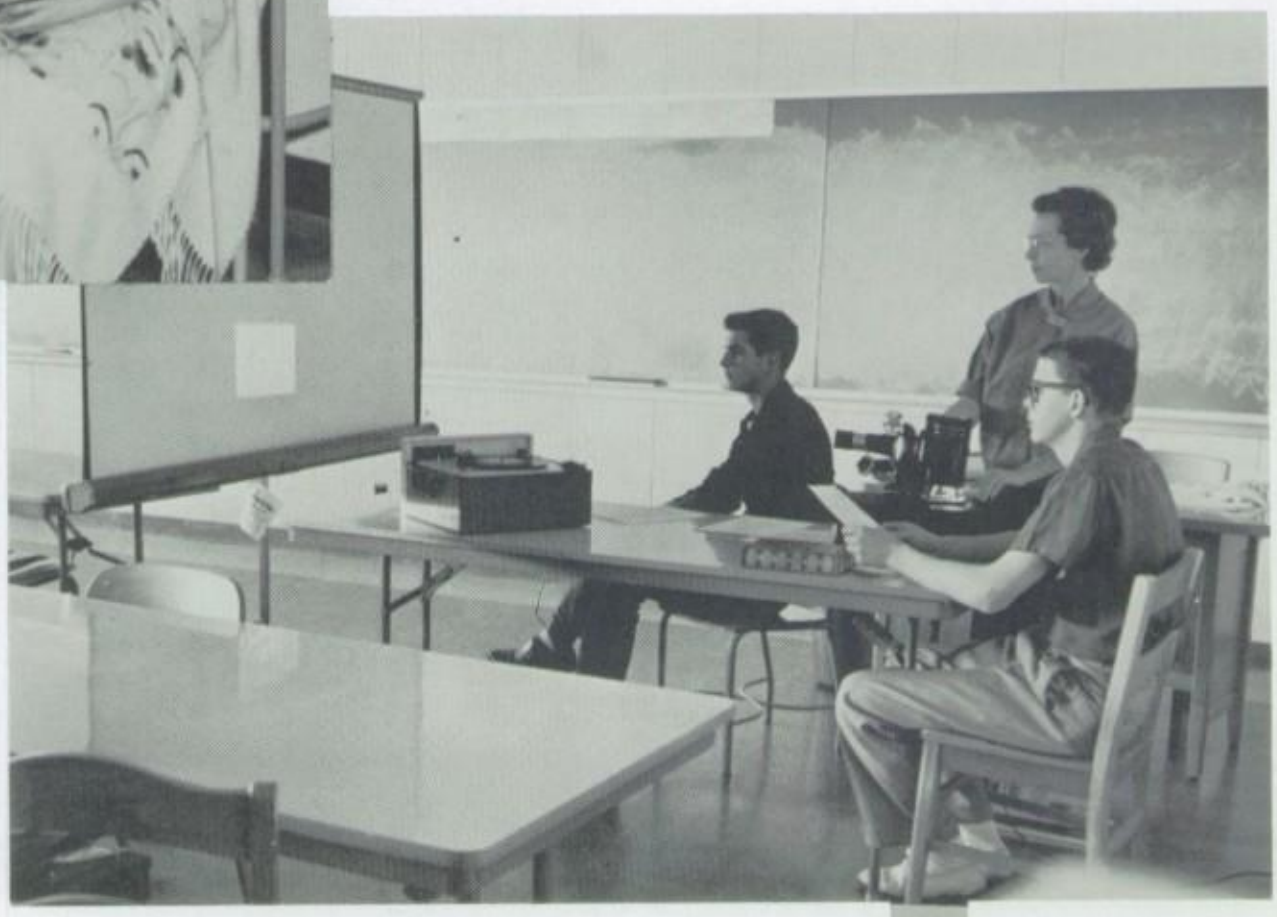
COURSES IN SPANISH II and III included further instruction in grammar and more comprehensive study of conversation.

Curtis Barnes, Tom Cleveland and Dorothy James (above) display Spanish Costumes while Mrs. Offutt (right) uses the medium of sight to teach Spanish III to students Glenn Thompson and Bill Oldham.



MRS. SIMS OVERSEES the Latin assignments of the class which teach the basic foundations of our own English language.

Importance in Curriculm

WITH THE CONSOLIDATION, German I and II were added to the curriculm. Mr. Kuchler instructs his German I class on the basic fundamentals of the language.

LEARNING TO SPEAK with ease and fluency was the primary objective of speech class. Practicing, Nancy Seiber presented a trophy to all-around cowgirl Kay DeMers, who accepted graciously as the class members looked on.

Speed and Accuracy Evolved

AS THE PERIOD progresses, these Typing I students work diligently on their daily work assignments.

Through Constant Practice

OFFICE PRACTICE STUDENTS Janice Ford, Pat Stout, Mary Bishop, Millie Beck, Marian Troxel, Diane DeLuca, and Bernadine Sharp demonstrated the numerous activities of a secretary.

BOOKKEEPING STUDENTS DAVE Kinser, Linda Tompkins, Norma Glasscock, Sue Howell, Dave Robbins, Fred Gascon, Don Goddard, Jerry Hemingway, Frank Thorpe, and Shearon Poole apply their talents in the studious atmosphere.

Training for Future

IN ADVANCED WOOD WORKING James Scott constructed a practical folding camping trailer (13 ft x 8 ft, unfolded; 8 ft x 5 1/2 ft, folded).

VOCATIONAL ART COURSES are in high demand by Phoenix High students. Woodworking, drafting, and agriculture are popular boy's subjects that teach them to work with their hands as well as their minds. The classes are not restricted to boys, however, and recently girls have shown increased interest in these fields, especially in architectural drafting and design. During the first year these courses offer information in the basic fundamentals of the subject. Further study gives the interested student more advanced training, thus preparing him for such vocations in the future.

Occupations Offered in Vocational Courses

CONCENTRATING ON ACCURACY, drafting students Mel Bushnell, Linda Goble and Sande Beddoe construct a large 4 ft. x 5 ft city map of Phoenix.

DRAFTING INSTRUCTOR Mr. Paxson assists his students Karen Mocabee, Ella Fay Keeney, Bud Gleim and Jerry Moore.

Development of Creative Ability Could

BETTY DEAN AND Becky Williams comment on fellow artist Ken Loper's work.

ART INSTRUCTOR MISS Carter converses with Linda Goble about her painting while Dot Bilderback, Gayle Grennan, Ella Fay Keeney, Dixie Davis and Jo Dean busily apply themselves to their art work.

ART EXHIBITS OF the classes' work were displayed in the hall show case. Students developed their creativity with wire sculpture, plaster of paris, portrait work and other allied art fields.

Modern education recognizes the need for the development of creative ability as well as mental prowess.

Not be Ignored

HOME EC. III students, Yvonne Lanfear and Margie Root demonstrate their sewing skills.

LEARNING MORE ABOUT the intricate art of sewing, Judy Abbott, Dianna Lester, and Colleen Learn develop their seamstress ability.

OBSERVING Cynthia Butler bathing a baby are Mrs. Parr, instructor, and fellow members of the Home Ec. III class.

CLEANING UP AFTER a period of cooking are Home Ec. I students, Colleen Learn, Dotti Goddard, and Judy Abbott.

Academic Science and Math

EXPLAING A PHYSICS problem to his students, Mr. Cessnun turns to observe their reaction.

MERCILESSLY DISSECTING A frog specimen, biologists Rick Richey, Steve Clark, Rick Jennings and John Kerns wield their instruments skillfully.

Program Challenges Modern Youth...

IN VARIOUS STAGES of preparation for a chemistry experiment, students Nancy Seiber, George Gleim, Jaci Howard, Virginia Daugherty, Fletcher Fish, Virginia Johnson, Pat Diederich, Victor Coggins, Dave Fisher, Dick Zediker, Albert Logan, Jerry Reichstein and Mike Olson gain knowledge by first-hand use of the chemicals.

SINCE THE RUSSIANS sent Sputnik I into orbit, increased emphasis has been placed on high school science programs. Geared for the academic youth, these courses also provide valuable information to challenge a student's mind and imagination. Such objectives give added momentum to the Phoenix High School's science curriculum.

INTENTLY OBSERVANT OF the radioactive rays in a Wilson Cloud Chamber, general science pupils Jim Rutherford, Chris Beck, Sandy Pape, Sandy Roth and Carolyn Anderson become more aware of scientific wonders.

CORRECTING THEIR DAILY assignments, Algebra I students Linda Mullin, Fred Swingle, Mike Langley, John Foster, Michele Dube', Bob Barrentine, Danny Cooper and Mike Olson rapidly learn from their errors to acquire skill in higher math.

GEOMETRY STUDENTS DOROTHY James and Terri Diederich display their constructive talents with complicated geometric figures before the class.

Administration Coordinates School

MR. ERNEST M. SKIPWORTH
Principal

ADMINISTRATIVE DUTIES INCLUDE not only operating the school plant efficiently and smoothly, but also the harmonious coordination of school and community.

Through counseling and constructive criticism and advice, the administration plays a responsible part in the formation of young lives. Since the youth of today will be the leaders of our future, the foundations they build from their school and community cannot be lightly regarded.

Homecoming Climaxed by Gridiron

PEPPY YELL LEADERS and spectators show their enthusiasm as the Homecoming game proceeds.

Triumph

AN UNPRECEDENTED NUMBER of alumni from Phoenix and Talent High Schools attended the traditional Homecoming festivities of the newly consolidated school. Festivities began with the Homecoming parade which was led by the high school band and included class floats, decorated cars, and the marching pep club.

In an impressive ceremony at half-time of the evening's football game, the junior class candidate was crowned Homecoming Queen. Judged by a committee of townspeople as the most outstanding float, the freshman class entry was awarded the prize.

Concluding the victorious 1960 Homecoming celebrations, students and alumni danced and renewed old friendships at the jubilant Queen's Ball.

RADIANT QUEEN JOYCE RUTHERFORD and escort David Grimes reign happily over a jubilant Homecoming.

PHOENIX STUDENTS AND alumni enjoyed the concluding festivity of Homecoming.

"WONDERLAND BY NIGHT"

MUSIC AND DECORATIONS set the mood for the 1961 Sweetheart's Ball. A giant moon behind the sculptured throne was shadowed with lights to reflect upon the darkened dance floor. On an adjacent wall a huge mural of a city at night was painted to further carry out the theme. Queen Jaci and the Royal Court were crowned with floral wreaths in an impressive ceremony to highlight the festive evening.

SILHOUETTED BY AN immense moon, Queen Jaci reigns proudly on her throne.

Enchantment Radiated from Royalty

A "MYSTIC HOLIDAY" with flocked Christmas trees, snow sleighs, and a thousand suspended snowflakes was an appropriate title for the Senior Winter Formal. Queen Diane was enthroned in an artistically decorated sleigh bedecked with presents and draped with glistening angel hair. She and her princesses were all seniors selected by a senior committee. Live entertainment was furnished by the Shadows vocal group and the Bill Hannaford Quartet to complete the memorable evening.

QUEEN Diane and escort Gerald take time out to pose for an individual shot.

STATELY ENCIRCLING QUEEN Diane were Royal Court members Jack Fowler, Gerald Sloper, Bonnie Thompson, Glenn Thompson, Barbara Gysin, Melvin Bushnell, Karen Mocabee, Mike Consbruck, Fran Kievet and Jon Shepherd.

Juniors Sponsor "Exotica"

A ROCK-LIKE THRONE surrounded by gigantic tropical flowers, and a huge spider web entry way effectively portrayed the theme "Exotica" of the 1961 Junior-Senior Prom. On an adjoining wall a gleaming waterfall and trailing greenery further enhanced the decor.

The traditional event began with a formal banquet, lightened by the reading of the class will and prophecy, which were both written in a humorous vein.

Following the imposing coronation, the guests participated in dancing and the stately Grand March, which completed the evening's gaiety.

QUEEN KAREN AND escort Mike Consbruck smiled radiantly after the coronation ceremony.

DISPLAYING THEIR OBVIOUS enjoyment of the entire affair, the banquet guests smile delightedly.

Trains Future Leaders

STUDENTS PARTICIPATING IN this year's Elks sponsored Student Government Day were Tax Deputy Sheriff Gene Holt, County Agent Ernie Bolz, County Assessor Bobbie Gysin, Constable Butch Tompkins, Watermaster Bill Oldham, Supervisor of Nursing Virginia Johnson, Superintendent of 4-H Boys Mike Consbruck, County Surveyor Karen Mocabee, Sheriff Gerald Sloper and Assistant Juvenile Officer Fran Kievet. Under this program these four elected officers and six appointees spent a complete day learning more about Jackson County government. Taking the oath of office at the court house was the first item on their agenda and the remainder of the day was taken up by a conducted tour to and through the key points of this government. Some of the places visited by PHS students were the Jackson County Court House and the juvenile home. This eventful day was concluded by a banquet at Hedrick Junior High School for participants and their parents.

Journalistic Endeavors Reap Achievement

EDITOR LIZ KING holds journalism agenda for the next issue of the Jolly Roger.

STRIVING TO BE an unbiased source of information, the Jolly Roger, the high school newspaper, acted as an organ of student-news reporting for the students, faculty, parents, alumni, and the public in general. Operating on a business-like basis, similar to the conditions on a city publication, the Jolly Roger offered actual journalistic experiences to the class and taught team work and responsibility.

Meeting copy deadlines, soliciting advertising, and organizing layouts were only a few of the many tasks that provided training for the students that will be valuable in journalism and many other fields.

EDITOR SANDY DICKINSON checks a layout before giving her approval.

RECORDING THE HAPPENINGS of an eventful year was the primary purpose of the 1961 Pirate Log staff. For those students who helped with the yearbook's production, the Pirate Log provided an outlet for creative and constructive endeavor, coupled with a sense of achievement after the last deadline was met. The experience of working on the annual taught cooperation and diligence as well as journalism.

"BUT THE WAY I remember him best . . ." Frank (John Morrison) recalls Father as he reminisces with Ernestine (Liz King) in front of the curtain before each act to set the mood and background of the play.

"MORE EFFICIENCY--that's all I hear," Mrs. Fitzgerald (Mariann Furrer), the housekeeper, rebuked Mr. Gilbreth (Richard Coulter), the efficiency-expert father, who with the help of his wife (Pat Diederich) keeps his family of twelve children running smoothly despite occasional storms.

"Cheaper by the Dozen" Evokes Laughter and Tears

"MR. CHAIRMAN--there's still further business I wish to place before the family council," stutters the eldest daughter Anne (Karen Mocabee) as she upsets the efficient household by her struggle to become independent of her father's dominance unaware that he has heart trouble.

THE FAMILY PET Whiskers, who loved to lie on Dad's bed, and consequently could not stay out of trouble with Father, just about stole the show.

BEHIND-THE-SCENE action made possible the final production of the play. James Scott, who directed lighting, played a major role backstage as did the make-up artists.
